

CHRISTMAS NEWSLETTER 2014

IT is difficult to believe that our first Christmas at the Shrine of St. Walburge has already arrived! The three months that have gone by since Bishop Campbell opened the shrine at the end of September have been filled with activity. A new project such as this is naturally challenging, but with patience and with help from dedicated local volunteers – and above all with God’s grace – we have been able to make a lot of progress in just a few months.

The shrine welcomes everyone to attend Mass and other services. There is no need to have any previous familiarity with the traditional Latin liturgy celebrated here in order to attend ceremonies at St. Walburge’s. Young people have told us how happy they were to discover this liturgy for the first time, and those of another generation have been able to rediscover the liturgy of their youth – a liturgy which in fact is timeless. In addition to the celebration of daily Mass and Adoration, as well as the Divine Office and the sacrament of penance, the rhythm of life at the Shrine has been marked in the first quarter by traditional October devotions, fortnightly adult catechism classes, a solemn Novena for the Immaculate Conception with a series of excellent guest preachers and a well-attended Advent day of recollection.

I am grateful to divine Providence who has permitted our Institute, small instrument though we are, to respond to Bishop Campbell’s invitation to work for the future of this beloved centre of faith and heritage, whose life was no longer sustainable in a conventional parish context. I am also most grateful to you, dear friends, for your prayers and your many sacrifices to make this mission succeed. From the people of the former parish of St. Walburge who continue to help in church to our dedicated singers and servers; from the volunteers who built our new confessional and installed our new house chapel to the two seminarians who have been so selfless in helping Canon Montjean and me to get this foundation off to a good start, to our thoughtful benefactors whose spiritual and material support is so essential, it is clear that St. Walburge’s Shrine is very much a joint effort!

As Catholics we know that a church should never become merely a tourist attraction. A beautiful and historic church like St. Walburge’s attracts not only practicing Catholics but also the lapsed and nonbelievers and thus provides a wonderful opportunity in terms of evangelisation. The final goal of evangelisation is not simply spreading a message of culture or goodwill but bringing people to Jesus Christ. This is the mission we hope to accomplish, in our own small way, with the help of divine grace: working for the glory of God and the salvation of souls. Thank you for all you do to make St. Walburge’s a beacon of faith and hope not only for Lancashire but for Mary’s Dowry as a whole!

Yours faithfully,
Canon Francis Altieri

After a short break for personal prayer and confessions, Canon Montjean (at left) gave a second talk on the subject: Our Lady in the Advent liturgy – the joys of Mary. The retreat ended with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the church.
