St Walburge's Book of Remembrance

This beautifully crafted volume has been specially commissioned for our church and will accompany the prayer of our Shrine family throughout the year. Each month, the book will be opened to the corresponding page and displayed in a small display cabinet within the church. The names of those whose anniversaries of death fall during that month will be visible, inviting everyone to remember them in prayer.

Our hope is that this Book of Remembrance will embrace the whole history of St Walburge's: parishioners from the Jesuit years, those from the diocesan parish, and all those who have become part of the life of St Walburge's since the arrival of the Institute of Christ the King Sovereign Priest.

Month by month, their names will remind us of one of the greatest spiritual works of mercy: to pray for the dead. Simply pausing to read these names may inspire us to offer an Eternal Rest, a De Profundis, a Rosary, or a Holy Communion for the repose of their souls.

We would now like to ask for your help.

If you would like a family member, a friend, or someone connected with St Walburge's to be included in the Book of Remembrance, please send the following details to the Presbytery:

The full name of the deceased;

The date of death (or at least the month, if the exact date is unknown).

Their names will then be lovingly entered into the Book so that, year after year, they may be remembered in the prayers of our entire Shrine community. In a world where so much is quickly forgotten, this Book of Remembrance will be a quiet yet profound witness to our Catholic faith. It will be a visible sign of our communion with the invisible Church. As we see these names, we will remember that the Church extends far beyond those gathered in the pews of St Walburge's. She also embraces the Holy Souls in Purgatory, whom our prayers can console and hasten towards the beatific vision of God.

May this Book become a lasting reminder that Christian love does not end at death. One day, we too shall hope to be remembered in the prayers of those who come after us. God bless you, Your Rector

TRANSLATION OF THE EPISTLE AND GOSPEL

Dominica XII Post Pentecosten ~ II. classis

Epistle: 2 Cor. 3:4-9

Brethren: Such is the assurance I have through Christ toward God. Not that we are sufficient of ourselves to think anything, as from ourselves, but our sufficiency is from God. He also it is Who has made us fit ministers of the new covenant, not of the letter but of the spirit; for the letter kills, but the spirit gives life. Now if the ministration of death, which was engraved in letters upon stones, was inaugurated in such glory that the children of Israel could not look steadfastly upon the face of Moses on account of the transient glory that shone upon it, shall not the ministration of the spirit be still more glorious? For if there is glory in the ministration that condemned, much more does the ministration that justifies abound in glory.

Gospel: Luke 10:23-37

At that time, Jesus said to His disciples: Blessed are the eyes that see what you see! For I say to you, many prophets and kings have desired to see what you see, and they have not seen it; and to hear what you hear, and they have not heard it. And behold, a certain lawyer got up to test Him, saying, Master, what must I do to gain eternal life? But He said to him, What is written in the Law? How do you read? He answered and said, You shall love the Lord your God with your whole heart, and with your whole soul, and with your whole strength, and with your whole mind; and your neighbor as yourself. And He said to him, You have answered rightly; do this and you shall live. But he, wishing to justify himself, said to Jesus, And who is my neighbor? Jesus answered and said, A certain man was going down from Jerusalem to Jericho, and he fell in with robbers, who after both stripping him and beating him went their way, leaving him half-dead. But, as it happened, a certain priest was going down the same way; and when he saw him, he passed by. And likewise a Levite also, when he was near the place and saw him, passed by. But a certain Samaritan as he journeyed came upon him, and seeing him, was moved with compassion. And he went up to him and bound up his wounds, pouring on oil and wine. And setting him on his own beast, he brought him to an inn and took care of him. And the next day he took out two denarii and gave them to the innkeeper and said, 'Take care of him; and whatever more you spend, I, on my way back, will repay you.' Which of these three, in your opinion, proved himself neighbor to him who fell among the robbers? And he said, He who took pity on him. And Jesus said to him, Go and do also in like manner.
